The Trey O'Hearts

Romantic Tale by Louis Joseph Vance. opyright, 1914, by Louis Joseph Vance

By arrangement with the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, it is possible to read "The Trey O Hearts" in The Times-Dispatch and also to see it in ylectures at the Superior Thesates. Synopsis of preceding chapters: The trey of hearts is the death sin used by Seneca Trine in the private as waged by him through his daughter, and the subset of the seed of the accident that made him a cripple for life. Law and lose, Judith's twin sister, hove each other, now dead, Trine his med for the accident that made him a cripple for life. Law and lose, Judith's twin sister, hove each other, and Rose, Judith's twin sister, hove each other, with him, but, scorned by him, she pursues the lovers implaceably. After escaping death thany times at the hands of Judith and her been, Alan comes to New York in search likes, who has been brought home by Judith. Surviving many desperate attempts on his life, Alan learns that Rose is being his life, Alan learns that Rose is being liken West by her father, and that his friend, Tom Barous, proposes to go on the same train, disguised as a colored porter, its follows in an aeropiane, taking Judith with him, and soon overtakes the train. SYNOPSIS.

And what real porter would have een so assiduously on the watch as have picked out the biplane in the to have picked out the biplane in the skies-4far, soaring dot in the biue that it must have seemed from the special? The man in the white coat, Alan assured himself, was positively Barcus, And hardly had he comforted himself with this assurance when his sardonic destiny struck the motor dumb.

In response to his look of dashed inquiry the aviator merely shook a weary head and muttered the words: "Engine trouble."

Swiftly the carth rose to receive the yolplaning mechanism. Under Coust's volplaning mechanism. Under Const's admirable handling it settled down al-most without a jar, on the outskirts of a city whose name Alan never

For the biplane was barely at a standstill before he was out and, reel-ing with the giddiness that affects men after long flights, making his way as best he might toward the manager's office connected with a trainyard immediately adjacent to the spot where they had come to earth mediately adjacent to the spot where they had come to earth.

Judith followed him like a shadow, silent, pertinacious, grim of eye.
Lavish disbursement of money won him his way against official protests that what he demanded was an impossibility. Within twenty minutes, leaving Coast to follow on when and as best he might, Alan and Judith were spinning through open country in the cab of an engine running light, with only clear track between it and with only clear track between it and

The several hours that ensued before the rear lights of the special were brought to view were none too many for the task imposed upon Alan of overcoming the scrupies of the engi-neer and fireman. Only the fame of his father's name as a railroad builder and father's name as a railroad builder and owner served in the end, backed up by absolute proofs of his identity, to persuade them to his wishes. Convinced (at least outwardly) that they were not dealing with a lunatic, they at length accepted his money and his promise of a life pension equivalent to their wages, should they lose their jobs, and disregarding signals brought the light engine rapidly up toward the rear of the special.

Certainty that they were pursuing the right train was accorded Alan only the right train was accorded Alan only when, within a few hundred feet of the special, he saw first one figure hurtle over the rear rail, fall to the tracks, and scramble off just in time to escape and scramble off just in time to escape annihilation, then, a moment later, a second shoot off to the right, escaping the tracks and rolling like a whirligig down a steep embankment. A vague blur of white remained on the back platform; and Alan understood that Barcus had merely been clearing the way of Trine's guards. any of Trine's guards.

Another minute, and less than fifty of separated the two—the special ain and the light engine, both hurting through the night at top speed.
With a word to the engineer, Alan crept out along the side of the boiler, with only a greasy handrall and a narrow foothold between himself and what meant death, or something closely re-sembling it, should he be shaken off by the tearing wind and the swaying of-

It seemed an hour before he worked himself up to the cowcatcher—now within four feet of the rear platform of figure indistinctly silhouetted against the light through the door, and beside her a main in a white coat, clinging for dear life to the knob of the door—holding it sainst the frantic efforts of some persons inside to tear it open.

Another hour of suspense dragged out—or such was the effect—while the light engine with intolerable slowness bridged those four scant feet.

At length it was feasible to attempt the thing. Rose (he could see her

At length it was leasible to attempt the thing. Rose (he could see her strained white face quite plainly now) was half over the rail of the car ahead, ready to jump.

It was too hazardous a cisk. He dared not let her from the train and something very like a bullet whistled past his cheek, and proved the signal for several more. Some one had opened one of the side windows and was emptying a revolver Strangely, that knowledge steadled his nerves. Straining forward and holding on to a bar so hot that it scorched his palm, he offered a hand to the girl on the rail.

Her hand fell confidently into it. She jumped. His arm wound route her hand.

jumped. His arm wound round her as she landed on the platform of the cowcatcher. He heard her breathe his name, then hurriedly passed her between himself and the boller to the footway at the side. The freman was waiting there to help her. Alan turned his attention to Earcus.

[Continued To-morrow.]

Greeting the Enemy BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

Copyright, 1914, by Lillian Russell. Copyright, 1914, by Lillian Russell.

It is really worth while to make a personal application of the lesson Europeans are now writing in blood. The law of self-preservation is strong in all of us. Yet in our health and vigor we are wont to scoff at advice which suggests the taking of preventive measures against the onslaught of the enemy, and yet the enemy is omnipresent and ready to spring upon us as soon as we are in a vulnerable position. In the fair land of the United States we are not now in fear of the gun and we are not now in fear of the gun and valer. At the moment there is no ne-essity to barricade our homes against armed forces. But in peace as well as in war it is well to barricade ourselves against attack from an insidious enemy—the little disease germs that conenv-the little disease germs that constantly hover about us, menacing health and beauty. Individually we are menaced by an enemy, and with persistence we should fortify ourselves against attack by the invisible enemy. It is only by continual care and training that we can keep ourselves in shape to successfully resist our enemies because they are invisible and we know not when and from where they will come, nor where they will they will come, nor where they will

.Remember: A pint of prevention is worth more than a gallon of the most effective remedy ever discovered.

Lillian Russell's Answers. 11. A. C.: Pimples, sometimes are caused from impure blood. If the case is bad it needs the attention of a good reduce It.

Household

Dr. Brady's Health Talks

THE COURT OF "COLDS,"

So you see we were mistaken.

P. L. M.: 1. What, besides the wearing of ill-fitting shoes, causes "hammertoe"? 2. What will cure it? 3. Is there any appliance to wear in the shoe or at night? 4. When one has fallen arches, are arch supports of any kind good fo wear?

Itaply: 1. Bad shoes are the only cause. 2. Tenetony—bloodless cutting of the contracted tenden. 3. Yes, but why experiment with appliances? 4. No, not without the addice of your doctor. The feet are too useful to trust to unskilful treatment.

F. W. asks: Will you suggest briefly a simple and practicable way in which one may avoid taking cold?
Reply: Always bear in mind that you take "cold" from some one who already has one, and try to be a bit cool and distant toward the person who has one.

Theodora writes: Please state whether ordinary exposure of the neck and arms is a cause of pneumonia—for mother's sake, if not for mine.

Reply: Dating our reply 1914, exposure is not a cause and not even a predisposing factor of pneumonia. If you are comfortable with your throat and arms exposed, then mother should not worry.

Interests

Personal

physician. I would suggest opening the pimples and pressing out the substance; then apply peroxide. I think you need a good blood tonic. The old fashiond remedy of sulphur and molasses is good for this. Mix one teaspoon of sulphur with one tablespoon of molasses. Take one or two teaspoons three or four times a day. Be careful what you eat. Eliminate all sweet, rich foods from your diet. Eat plenty of fruits and vegetables and drink plenty of water between meals. Fashion's Decree To-day's Dress Hint, with authentic note as to style and fabric.

The simple lines which are clamoring for supremacy could not make a more effective appeal than in this skirt, with box-platted tunic. The yoke front is mounted over a three-piece foundais mounted over a three-piece founda-tion, and accompanying the skirt is a waist of white China silk. The skirt requires 2 3-4 yards of 54-inch material to make, and the waist 25-8 yards of 36-inch material. Pictorial Review Waist No. 5832. Sizes, 32 to 46 inch bust. Price, 15c. Skirt No. 5879. Sizes, 21 to 32-inch waist. Price, 15c.

it all along. We have argued that when a patient says he has a "cold" he walls. Price. 16.

The pattern will be mailed to any address by The Times-Dispatch Pattern Department on receipt of price.

The pattern will be mailted to any the pattern will be pa

Bev. Dunbar H. Ogden, D. D., pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, of Atlanta, will preach at Grace Street Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. Dr. Ogden is one of the most prominent of the younger ministers of the Southern Presbyterian Church, and his visit to Richmond is of much interest to all Presbyterians.

He will deliver the annual address before the Society of Missionary Inquiry at the Union Theological Seminary on Sunday night. whereby and as a result of defendant's negligent, inhuman, incompetent, ungentlemanly blacksmith-like attack plaintiff did come down with and royally entertain an acute interstitital ostelits mostoideae, to-wit, a gathering in the skull behind the ear.

On rebuttal defendant claimed that plaintiff was not competent to tell whether or not he had a "cold" other than his catarrh, which was chronic anyway.

K. of C. Elect Officers. The following officers have been elected by Richmond Council, No. 395, Knights of Columbus, to serve for the ensuing term, which begins on November 11.

than his catarra, which anyway.

Plaintiff responded that the operation on the nose had caused the mastold abscess behind the ear, wherefore he demanded about $6,000,000 as a memente of the occasion.

The court held that any man knows when he has a "cold." One who suffers with a "cold," the court found, usually knows what alls him.

So you see we were mistaken. ber 1: Grand knight, John J. Blake: deputy Grand knight, John J. Blake: deputy grand knight, Thomas A. Murphy; chancellor, John W. Nokely; recorder, James M. Purcell: financial secretary, Henry G. Fitzpatrick; treasurer, Columbus A. Canepa; advocate, Robert A. Sheppard; warden, Henry Keck; first warden, Arthur Van Buren; inside guard, Michael Gabsky; outside guard, Louis D. Knightly; organist, Paul P. Fitzpatrick; trustee, James L. O'Keeffe. Questions and Answers.

Worried: I have a rectal polypus. Should I have it removed here at the hospital, or go to a specialist in New York who can cure it in six weeks treatment? I am fifty-six years old.

Reply: If the specialist told you he could cure you in six weeks without no operation, you had better play it safe and submit to the treatment of your own doctor.

Dentist Examiners in Session.

Dentist Examiners in Session.

The Virginia Board of Dental Examiners, in session at the Medical College of Virginia building yesterday morning, examined fifteen applicants for license to practice dentistry. There were practical exemplifications of gold fillings, plate and bridge work. The examinations will continue to-day. The members of the board present and taking part in the quizzes were Dr. W. H. Campbell, Suffolk, president of the board; Dr. J. P. Stiff, Fredericksburg, secretary and treasurer; Drs. R. E. U. Potter, Roanoke; R. &—Lewis, Culpeper; J. L. Walker, Norfolk, and J. V. Haller, Wytheville.

Among the applicants for license are one young woman and two negroes.

Liga Goodman, colored, was yesterday fined 230 and costs in Police Court on a charge of assaulting and beating Alice Brown with rocks and a piece of lead pipe.

Two Injured in Railway Wreck. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

BRYSTOL, VA, October 8.—Engineer L. A. Bonham is in a hospital here, with a broken leg and other injuries, and his fireman, W. J. Jones, is injured, as the result of a passenger train on the Hoiston River division of the Southern Railway, splitting a switch at Mendota, Va, to-lay. The engine turned over and Bonham's log was caught under the cab. The coaches remained on the rails and no passengers were injured.

MISS ETHEL F. SHACKFORD WEDS ROBERT L. SAVILLE

Brilliant Ceremony Takes Place in Monument Methodist Church.

Linen Shower in Honor of Miss Louise Richardson, Whose Mar-riage Takes Place This Month. Tournament at Woman's Club.

MISS PARRISH TO ENTERTAIN

Palms, burning candles and quanti-ties of white chrysanthemums decorat-ed Monument Methodist Church last ed Monument Methodist Church last evening at 7:30 o'clock for the marriage of Miss Ethel Fraser Shackford, daughter of the late Dr. William Henry Shackford and Mrs. Callie E. Shackford, to Robert Lamb Saville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Otway Saville. The church was thronged with a large company of relatives and friends to witness the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. John W. Shackford, a cousin of the bride. Mrs. Allen J. Saville rendered the wedding music, including "The Ferfect Day" and the Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman."

The bride's wedding dress was an exquisite affair, fashioned of ivory exquisite affair, fashioned of ivory white satin and barrick macross lace, and her vell of illusion fell to the hem of her long train. She entered the church with her brother, Samuel B. Shackford, who gave her in marriage.

church with her brother, Samuel B. Shackford, who gave her in marriage. Her bouquet was a shower of white roses and lilles of the valley. They were met at the chancel by the groom and his best man, W. Robertson Beverly, of Richmond. Miss Sarah T. Buckley, of Morristown, N. J., who was maid of honor, wore a costume of pale pink charmeuse with a tunic of cream-colored shadow lace, She carried a hig bouquet of pink chrysanthemums tied with tulle streamers.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of Nile green crepe de chine, made with tunics and bodices of pink litalian net and their flowers were white chrysanthemums. The girls chosen by the bride as her attendants included Misses Keith Saville, sister of the groom; Ethel Whittet, Lelia Willis, Virginia Thornton, all of Richmond; Virginia Johnson, of Shepherdstown, West Virginia, and Alma Walker, of Walkerton. The groomsmen were Messrs. Francis Harrison Lee, J. Hoge Ricks, Dr. Beverly F. Eckles, Frank S. Eckles, Dr. J. Mortimer Hughes, of Richmond, and Dr. Theodore B. Shackford, of Lynchburg.

Miss Parish to Entertain.

Miss Eleahor Winch Parrish, of "Miniboyra" and Richmond, has invited a number of her friends to attend the matines performances of the Grayce Scott Players on Tuesday afternoon, Oc-tober 13. Miss Parrish and her guests will 'ater be entertained in the afternoor, at the home of Mrs. Chalmers, 1119 Grove Avenue.

Grove Avenue.

For Miss Richardson.

Miss Ellen Jenkins entertained very charmingly at her home, 1829 Monument Avenue, yesterday afternoon, at a linen shower in honor of Miss Louise Richardson, daughter of Judge and Mrs. David C. Richardson, whose marriage will be an interesting event of this month.

Another function planned in honor of Wiley and orchids.

Miss Katherine D. Bentley, who was ier sister's maid of honor, wore pink crepe meteor, with a bodice of tulle, and carried Killarney roses. The two little flower girls, Miss Josephine Bentley, another sister of the bride, and Miss Peggy Wilson, a cousin, were dressed alike in dainty embroidered lingerie frocks, with pink sashes, and carried baskets of pink rosebuds and forget-me-nots. forget-me-nots.

James W. Lyon, Jr., was his brother's best man, and the four ribbon bearers, little Robert L. Bentley, Jr., a brother of the bride: Arthur H. Hall, Jr., and James Hall, nephews of the groom, and Charles Stewart, wore white linen suits.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Lyon left for a Northern wedding jour-ney. On their return they will live at Purcersville, West Virginia.

are to be devoted to replenishing the relief fund that the society maintains for assisting Southerners who may be in distress. As the demoralization in the cotton market will, in all probability, increase the number of Southern people who may become dependent upon the charity of the society, its officers and entertainment committee are especially anxious to make this "Cotton Bull" a great success.

By way of assisting the cotton producers of the South through popularizing the use of cotton goods, the managers of the "Cotton Bail" intend to request that every woman present on the occasion shall wear a costume made of and trimmed with cotton materials, as far as possible. The decorations of the ballroom will be distinctly Southern in character, and cotton, both in the boll and in the bale, will be largely used.

The hope is expressed that simple Colonial costumes made of cotton cloth shall be worn by those who attend, instead of the more ornate and less captivating frocks which the fashion of the day prescribes. It is thought that those who do this may set a much-needed example of economy, while they will, at the same time, increase the demand for the product of the Southern cotton fields.

Several women, who in face and figure resemble the historically famous beauties of the Colonial and antebellum South, are expected to wear cotton costumes that will conform to the fashions of the period which their prototypes adorned.

The names of the committee having the affair in charge will be announced shortly. It will include many men and women prominent both politically and socially in New York, Washington and also the cities of the South. The affair already promises to be a great success, and many Southern people expect to go to New York especially to be present.

IN AND OUT OF TOWN.

Mrs. William Allen and Miss Louise Allen have gone to Norfolk, where they are guests of Mrs. Charles Wood at her home there.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Trolinger and their family, of Pulaski, are spending a week in this city.

Mrs. Horace Dickson, of Norfolk, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. C. L. Kirk, in Richmond for several weeks. Mrs. Josephine Ott Morris, who has been the guest of relatives in Ron-noke, has returned to her home here. Lewis Pilcher has returned from Fredericksburg, where he joined Mrs. Pilcher at "Elmhurst," the home of her father, C. W. Jones, for a brief stay. Colonel and Mrs. K. E. Harman and their son, Caddall Harman, of Pulaski, are in Richmond for a few days. Mrs. E. R. Pruitt, of Danville, arrived here Saturday to be the guest of relatives for a week.

C. M. Hobson, of Baltimore, is visiting relatives and friends for a few days in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Bryan have returned to the city, after a visit to Baltimore.

Miss Elizabeth Buckner, of Roanoke, is the guest of Miss Janle Warwick, of 1601 Monument Avenue.

Miss Josephine Brown, of Oxford, N.
C., is visiting in Richmond as the guest of Miss Floyd Taylor.

Miss Ellse Owen, of Tampa, Fla., is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Frank Kinsey, at 2011 1-2 West Grace Street. Miss Rebecca Peck, who has been visiting in Farmville and Richmond, has returned to her home in Fredericks-burg.

burg.

Miss Annie Miller, of Norfolk, is a guest of the Misses Batkins in this city.

Miss Effic Humphries, who has been in Richmond for a few days this week, has returned to Fredericksburg.

Miss Elizabeth D. Lance of Danyelle.

personal supervision of Mr. Verra, assures you of the highest class of workmanship. "Write for circular," Out-of-town trade given prompt at-

Verra Hat Works 211 N. First Street,

Randolph 909.

$14 Tapestry Brussels Rugs $9.95

attractive Rugs are closely woven and show this season's best Oriental and conventional $22.00 Smith's Axminster Rugs, $16.48.

Shown in handsome Oriental and floral patterns. Large 9x12 room size.

THE KAUFMANN STORE

Tango Proof

W HEN the Tango days begin, and you're going the route from day to day of Tango torture, you'll find a lot of runs and holes appearing in your hosiery that are hard to Those holes are caused by two things—the strain caused by the dip and bend and double of the modern dances AND your failure to wear Kaufmann brands of hosiery.

'Esco" Boot Silk Hose, with reinforced heel and toe, lisle garter top, in all colors, 50c.

'Esco" Lisle Hose, with high spliced heel and toe, in black only, the pair, 35c; three pair, $1.00.

Full Fashioned Lisle Hose, with reinforced heel and toe, strong garter top, in black, white and tan,

'Kaufmann" Pure Silk Hose, with lisle garter top, high spliced heel and toe, in black, white and tan, 79c.

Pure Silk Hose, with lisle lined garter top, reinforced heel and toe, in black, white and tan; special, 95c.

Wedding Silver

Beautiful in design and finish. Selected to suit the taste of the most discriminate buyer, whether they be those of moderate price or the more expensive pieces.

C. LUMSDEN & SON, Inc. 781 East Main Street, Richmond, Va. "WHERE SILVER AND GOLD ARE HONESTLY SOLD."

AT ALL BOOKSTORES

KATE LANGLEY BOSHER'S NEW BOOK

How It Happened

BRIGHT MARY CARY AND JUST AS SWEET!

HARPER & BROTHERS

The Sunday Dessert

Let Sunday be a day of real rest and enjoyment-do away with the bother and fuss-just step to the phone and order this

Now Try This Better Ice Cream

Test your favorite flavor—PEACH, CHOCO-LATE, VANILLA—in this ice cream which opens your eyes with its smoothness, richness, flavor and It's so much better that it's bound to cost a little more.

Packed As Above in Solid Flavors. 50c quart. $1.50 three quarts. $1 half gallon. $1.75 gallon. Ask for prices on Neapolitan and C .- O .- V. (Chocolate-Orange Ice and Vanilla).

